I spent a weekend with the hi®.

As a Clinical Sexologist I'm always interested in new technology and advances in sexual health programs. When it comes to trying new devices, and being from a scientific background, I will only recommend something to my clients that I've had a positive personal experience with, as well as understand the multitude of ways the device can be utilized.

My personal declaration is that it provides stimulation sensation in ways that nothing else has ever come close to reproducing. So many physical areas are being stimulated, as well as a deep body sensation of pleasure, that orgasm is impossible to avoid. I have also witnessed a dozen or more women, in a public forum which is not easy, experience orgasms in a few minutes time, much to their surprise.

As a clinician I have clients who are post hysterectomy who have great difficulty reaching orgasm, and the hi® has proven itself the top contender in moving the vibration deep enough for the women to experience very satisfying orgasms leading to more gratifying P/V or P/A sex. I can see so many uses for this technology and know it will change the sexual health and sense of well-being for womenkind, and therefore, for mankind.

Respectfully,

"My experience with hi® was fantastic. The abdominal pulsations of the toy awoke a part of my sexuality that I'd never previously felt. I was fully clothed and sitting in front of a lecture hall filled with other sexologists when I volunteered for the live demonstration. Imagine my surprise when I felt powerful waves of orgasm flooding me in front of my colleagues. My chest flushed, I gasped, my head fell back. I will use this toy extensively in my practice with sexless couples. It opens sexual response in an otherwise sexually shutdown woman without the vulnerability of exposure."

Dr. Yoni Alkan

Everyone talks about the hi®'s sexual properties, and rightfully so. However, as a man I can say that getting a regular body massage by the Hi is an amazing experience! It's different than other massagers out there. Every person I've tried it with, their first reaction was "Oooooohhhh..."

Dr. Sonia Borg:

I've used hi® in my solo practice as a personal massager, along with a partner and I've also observed others using hi® while fully clothed.

The first thing I noticed was the quality of the vibration that offers the deep massage without being painful or oversensitizing. When placed in key spots, I could feel that vibration through my body. I was feeling new sensations in places that have never been stimulated.

When used with a workshop partner, I was able to let go and enjoy my shoulder and neck massage. Minutes later, I was receiving the pelvic massage and was staying connected with eye contact from my partner while I focused on my own body and sexual response. The self-focus that hi® allows women is necessary for achieving orgasm, especially for women who have never had an orgasm.....yet. In fact, one of the program that hi® offers, was created for pre-orgasmic women.

Another thing I loved about the hi® device is that I was able to keep my clothes on. This was freeing and expanding for me because removing my clothes often means "going all the way" and eliminates a lot of orgasmic opportunities due to body-image concerns, and difficult conversations regarding birth control, health, safety, etc . hi® bypasses that nonsense and allows new and long term couples to spend time on what's important to them such as presence, intimacy, eye contact, and connection.

I noticed male partners handling hi® like the power tool it is while being completely focused on giving her pleasure and being successful again and again and again.

Testimonials

I observed a woman using hi® in her own way for self pleasure and also, I watched her guiding the man while together they focused on her pleasure.

Women talked about multiple orgasms, craving penetration and feeling more attracted to their partners in general.

Maybe most surprising was observing women going from resistance to ultimate surrender in minutes. I heard women thanking their male partners and telling them how amazing they are.

This is why we say that the hi® device can give a man “super powers.” It allows for couples to explore and men to “win” with their female partners within 20 minutes. It was refreshing to see men looking so confident, happy and proud within minutes.. I enjoyed watching the men as they led their woman to orgasm.

As a Sexologist, I see many opportunities for growth, connection and understanding. hi® will help ensure that both partners are sexually satisfied if they wish. I think couples will find it much easier to get connected, get along, and want to have more sex. Quickies will become quicker, women will be having more orgasms while being fully clothed and men will be looking in the eyes of a happy, satisfied woman.

"I have used the hi® vibrator and I would recommend it to couples. It provides a great full body massage for both men and women that penetrates beneath the surface of the skin. In addition it can also stimulate orgasm in women, used over the clothes. Sharing a massage and even orgasm as part of an intimate encounter can deepen intimacy. And it feels great!"

John Kamp, MD

"As a radiologist specializing in breast cancer diagnosis, I was usually the first person to give a woman the bad news that she might have cancer. So after retiring I decided to help women in their recovery phase after treatment. Usually recovery of sexual functioning is set on the back burner for a year or two due to body image issues and low desire. Massages, however, are easy to perform, and various types of internal and external vibrators are available for use in the pelvic area. The hi® is a unique massager in that it can be used while fully clothed and requires no massage oil. It's design also allows a very sensual pelvic massage that is entirely external, and easy to use alone or with a partner. It provides deep and superficial stimulation simultaneously to multiple erogenous zones, that might help keep those sensory pathways functioning during recovery from surgery and while undergoing chemotherapy or using hormone blockers. It would be interesting to have a preliminary clinical study on cancer patients to see if it indeed is therapeutic."

I've experienced hi® myself and witnessed other women using it. hi® was very different in that it gave me a continuous multiple orgasmic experience, which I have not experienced "continuity" and "multiplicity" at the same time before, it's liberating! Also other women I observed using hi® were amazed at the speed they achieved orgasm – within minutes – and they were fully clothed."

Dr. Ted McIlvenna

The best recommendation I can give is a quote from one of the women who tested hi® at a recent graduate lecture here at the IASHS. Julie said, "Now I have something that gives me complete control of my orgasm whenever I want – and that is the biggest freedom I've found. It's freedom for me to be the sexual person I want to be, when I want to be."
